A CO-PRODUCTION OF ACT — A CONTEMPORARY THEATRE AND THE 5TH AVENUE THEATRE
As we were talking in late 2016, it became apparent that one of our joint New Year’s resolutions needed to be delivering a great big belly laugh to our audiences in 2017. Our goal was to shake off the blues grown out of our national political discourse with a joyous celebration of creativity, talent, and artistic virtuosity. We are happy to say that this year’s co-production fulfills that promise.

Murder for Two pulls out every trick in the trunk in a vaudeville-style romp packed with cleverness and agility. Director Dan Knechtges calls Murder for Two “a rollicking adventure, combining elements of Agatha Christie, The Twilight Zone, the Marx Brothers and Victor Borge.” It also celebrates three uniquely talented local artists: Richard Gray, who gave a memorable performance last season as Charles Guiteau in our 5th Avenue/ACT production of Stephen Sondheim’s Assassins; Chris DiStefano, the Music Director of our Grey Gardens collaboration who will be making his Seattle acting debut in this production; and the show’s co-author and lyricist Kellen Blair who was born in Carnation, WA and grew up right here in Seattle.

This is the seventh collaboration between The 5th Avenue Theatre and ACT Theatre, and we’re feeling stronger than ever about the work we’re able to produce together. The spirit of collaboration has deep roots in our respective institutions. We are proud of our artistic relationship, and our shared contribution to Seattle’s growing reputation as one of the world’s finest cultural destinations.

MEET THE SUSPECTS

By Jordan Lusink, 5th Avenue Communications Coordinator

_Murder for Two_ is performed by two piano-playing actors who portray 13 characters between them. Unlike other shows in which actors play multiple characters; however, there are no elaborate costume changes to indicate who they are. All character changes are indicated by small props, change of voice, inflection and mannerisms. Here’s a quick chart to help you recognize the suspects:

1. MARCUS MOSCOWICZ is an ambitious young officer who is hoping to make Detective by solving the case before the REAL Detective shows up.

   VOICE OF THE CHIEF Marcus’s boss

   VOICE OF VANESSA Marcus’s former partner

2. DAHLIA WHITNEY is the widow of the victim, who is a bit kooky, and somewhat resentful of her now-deceased husband.

3. MURRAY FLANDON is the husband half of the squabbling couple who live next door to the Whitneys.

4. BARB FLANDON is the wife half of the squabbling couple who live next door to the Whitneys.

5. STEPH WHITNEY is the victim’s niece, who is, strangely enough, pursuing a Masters in Criminology when her uncle is murdered.

6. BARRETTE LEWIS is an overdramatic ballerina who charms Marcus immediately, distracting him from some potentially vital clues.

7. DR. GRIFF is a gruff but friendly psychiatrist at the party, who coincidentally also happens to be Marcus’ psychologist.

8. TIMMY, YONKERS and SKID are three of the 12 members of the boys’ choir which is inexplicably at the party. They seem to be a bit jaded beyond what you would expect for nine-year-olds.

9. HENRY VIVALDI is a local firefighter who arrives late to the party.
Welcome to Murder for Two, a killer new musical comedy! This show received rave reviews Off-Broadway and makes its Pacific Northwest premiere in this 5th Avenue Theatre/ACT — A Contemporary Theatre co-production. In an exclusive interview with Carnation, Washington-born lyricist and co-writer Kellen Blair we peek behind the curtain for more insight into the show’s creation and success.

What are your prior connections to The 5th and/or ACT?

I grew up in Seattle and most of my family still lives here (all proud subscribers at 5th Avenue, thank you very much). And interestingly enough, my very first theater experience was at ACT. I was two years old and my parents took me to see A Christmas Carol. It was a terrible idea because the sight of Jacob Marley had me screaming my head off and made everybody hate us, I’m sure. But I’ve been back every year since (and the screaming has definitely mellowed since then). So you can imagine, having my show here, the first theater I set foot in, is extremely meaningful to me. It’s also meaningful to my mom, who has been waiting for this day since our first reading of the show seven years ago.

What was the inspiration for Murder for Two?

Joe Kinosian and I had started working on a great big full blown American musical, complete with a thousand person cast and a giant orchestra. (I’m exaggerating, but it was huge.) This was during the financial crisis and we noticed a lot of theaters replacing their big full blown shows with much more economical shows like The 39 Steps (which we had both seen several times and loved, by the way). And it occurred to us that we probably wouldn’t get very far as two newbies with a big expensive show on our hands. Once we decided to go “small,” we actually found it really rewarding to start brainstorming how to use those limitations not as a hindrance but as an integral part of the storytelling; hence, one actor playing multiple characters. In terms of the story and the tone, it really came down to some similar interests we shared. We’re both huge fans of good old murder mysteries from the likes of Agatha Christie, and both hugely inspired by the Marx Brothers. Early on we had the idea: what if the Marx Brothers performed an Agatha Christie play? The detective would be trying to take things seriously because the stakes would be so high, but inevitably things would just devolve into chaos.

AN INTERVIEW WITH KELLEN BLAIR

How does this story work as a musical?
Actually it’s funny because it’s sort of a joke in the musical theater world that murder mysteries usually make terrible musicals. The logic is that songs often bring out the inner-thoughts of the characters, and that doesn’t bode well for a genre that’s all about secrets and twists and turns. But we actually found that the two genres fit together really nicely. I think it also helps that the actual murder mystery is only one small part of what’s going on onstage; it’s really about a guy learning to connect with someone. And any time you’ve got characters who desperately want and need things, letting them sing is a great way to get from point A to point B. Plus, there’s all the piano playing. Since they both play their own accompaniment, the various antics around the piano were a great way to set up the rivalries and relationships.

Has the show changed since its first staging?
In some ways it has changed a lot, but in terms of the core concept, it hasn’t really changed at all. However, in the first incarnation of the show, our hero, Detective Marcus, wasn’t very well-developed. He didn’t really seem to want much more than to solve the crime, which was fine on the surface, but it wasn’t a very meaningful reason to root for him. So we turned him into a young officer who wanted to make detective... and in fact, he pretends to be the detective in hopes of solving the crime and impressing his chief. All at once he had an internal goal in addition to the external one, plus a ticking clock (the real detective is on his way to the scene of the crime), ambition, flaws and a whole slew of other things that make characters more or less sympathetic and interesting! That was definitely the most meaningful change, in my opinion, during the show’s development.

What do you hope audiences will walk away with?
Every now and then during writing, Joe and I would remind ourselves of our list of priorities, and here they are in reverse order: 4) write a good mystery. 3) write a good musical. 2) I don’t remember what two was so it couldn’t have been that important after all. And 1) make people laugh. So we hope audiences laugh, and we hope for 90 minutes people are able to escape from anything in the world that might be getting them down right now.

A cloud obscures the moon. A window shatters. A woman screams. Silence. Then...a car speeds away.

There has been a murder!

Never fear: the Great Detective is on the case, aided by a faithful but slightly befuddled companion.

Through the Detective’s keen powers of deduction and extensive knowledge of ceramics, pipe tobaccos, etc., the time has come to pin the crime on the perpetrator. All the suspects are brought together in one room to answer the question on everyone’s mind—

WHODUNIT?

In a classic whodunit mystery, the reader (or viewer) is given the same clues that the detective uncovers and is then invited to “play along” with the investigation.

The author introduces plenty of false leads to prevent anyone from guessing the answer prematurely, but a helpful recap of the investigation—provided by the Detective just before the final revelation—shows that the author has played fair.

All the puzzle pieces were in plain sight, but only one dazzling mind could fit them together. That mind typically belongs to an eccentric amateur sleuth or unorthodox private investigator, a constant irritant to the official police force.

The whodunit template was perfected in the 1880s by Arthur Conan Doyle. His characters—consulting detective Sherlock Holmes, admiring but clueless friend Dr. Watson, irritable Inspector Lestrade and criminal mastermind Moriarty—will all reappear in various guises throughout the following 130 years of crime fiction.

In the Golden Age of the whodunit, roughly 1920 to 1950, a flood of highly addictive novels and short stories often written by women showcased popular sleuths such as Agatha Christie’s two immortal characters: Miss Marple, an elderly spinster, and Hercule Poirot, the self-important Belgian who boasts of his “little gray cells.” Golden Age stories typically took place in secluded English country houses and nearby villages, with the occasional foray into London.

Raymond Chandler and Dashiell Hammett adapted the whodunit to the big-city streets of mid-century America, introducing a more violent, “hard-boiled” tone while retaining the same basic plot construction as the cozier British mysteries.

Agatha Christie, the unchallenged Queen of Crime Fiction, also wrote plays, most notably The Mousetrap, which opened in 1952 and is now the longest-running production in theater history, having run continuously since it opened and having more than 25,000 performances in London’s West End. Its success has inspired dozens of plays, parodies and musicals.

Other Christie plays include And Then There Were None and Witness for the Prosecution, both adapted from her published fiction and both made into highly successful films, as were over 30 of her novels and short stories.

TRIVIA NOTE:

The word “whodunit” (an altered form of “who done it?”) was coined in the 1930s by a staff writer for Variety, the show-biz newspaper. It endures, perhaps because its breeziness reminds us not to take stories too seriously.

Television has thrived on whodunits, often in multi-season series, giving Netflix an endless supply of Masterpiece Murdoch Morse Monk Midsomer Marple Mysteries to stream to our home screens.

Despite “murder most foul” being at the center of most plots, true fans find the genre relaxing—nothing makes us forget our own troubles like a good whodunit.

The non-profit 5th Avenue Theatre is one of the country’s leading musical theater companies. Our mission is to “nurture, advance and preserve all aspects of America’s great indigenous art form: The Musical. We achieve this by creating extraordinary theatrical experiences that enrich, entertain and inspire current and future audiences everywhere.”

The 5th is committed to achieving the highest standards of artistic excellence by employing world-class performers and creative artists, utilizing full live orchestras, and staging exceptional and imaginative productions. The 5th places a special emphasis on employing our amazing community of Puget Sound-based artists and technicians.

We are nationally renowned for our production and development of new musicals. Since 2001, The 5th has premiered 17 new works, nine of which have subsequently opened on Broadway. They include Disney’s Aladdin, First Date, A Christmas Story, Scandalous, Shrek, Catch Me If You Can, The Wedding Singer and Best Musical Tony Award®-winners, Hairspray and Memphis.

We are equally acclaimed for our vibrant new productions of musicals from the “Golden Age of Broadway” and contemporary classics. These signature revivals enthrall fans of these enduring works and introduce these great shows to new generations of musical theater lovers.

Our celebrated educational programs serve more than 83,000 young people each year through a host of projects including our Adventure Musical Theater Touring Company, The 5th Avenue Awards and the unique Rising Star Project. For adults, we offer free-to-the-public events such as the popular Spotlight Night series and pre-performance Show Talks with Albert Evans.

We are the largest arts employer in the Pacific Northwest with more than 800 actors, singers, dancers, musicians, creative artists, theatrical technicians and arts professionals working for us each season.

As a non-profit theater company supported by the community, we enjoy the patronage of more than 20,000 season subscribers (one of the largest theater subscriptions in America). More than 330,000 audience members attend our performances each year.

OUR HISTORIC THEATER

The 5th Avenue Theatre’s breathtaking design was inspired by ancient Imperial China’s most stunning architectural achievements, including the magnificent Forbidden City. Built in 1926 for vaudeville and silent pictures, The 5th Avenue Theatre reigned for decades as Seattle’s favorite movie palace. In 1979, 43 companies and community leaders formed the non-profit 5th Avenue Theatre Association and restored the theater to its original splendor. The 5th Avenue Theatre re-opened in 1980 as Seattle’s premier home for musical theater.

The 5th Avenue Theatre gratefully acknowledges our 43 original founders and sponsors. Please visit www.5thavenue.org for specific information on these important companies and individuals.
EXECUTIVE LEADERSHIP

The 5th Avenue Theatre

DAVID ARMSTRONG (Executive Producer and Artistic Director) Since his appointment in 2000, Armstrong has guided The 5th to a position as one of the nation's leading musical theater companies, acclaimed for both its development and production of new works and its innovative stagings of classic musicals. As a director, he has created memorable 5th Avenue productions of Paint Your Wagon; Jacques Brel is Alive . . . ! A Room with a View; Oliver!, Candide; Hello, Dolly!; Sweeney Todd; White Christmas; HAIR; Mame; A Little Night Music; Anything Goes; Company; The Rocky Horror Show; Pippin; Vanities; Yankee Doodle Dandy!; and SavingAINEM, which he later directed on Broadway where it was renamed Scandalous. Most recently he directed an acclaimed production of The Secret Garden at DC's Shakespeare Theatre Company which will come to The 5th this spring. Prior to The 5th, Mr. Armstrong spent 20 years as a freelance director, choreographer and librettist. His work has been seen in New York and at many leading regional theaters including The Kennedy Center, Ordway Center, Ford's Theatre, Cincinnati Playhouse, Paper Mill Playhouse, and from 1990 to 1995 he served as Artistic Director of the Cohoes Music Hall in upstate New York. Armstrong has written the books for the musicals The Wonder Years (winner of seven Los Angeles Drama-Logue Awards), Gold Rush, A Christmas Carol and Yankee Doodle Dandy. In 2016, The Puget Sound Business Journal named Armstrong as one of their Business of Pride Outstanding Voices!

BERNADINE (BERNIE) GRIFFIN (Managing Director) first joined The 5th Avenue in 2002 as director of theater advancement and development. She was appointed managing director in January 2010 and is responsible for the administrative, marketing, fundraising, information services and facility operations, as well as oversight of all activities related to the Board of Directors. During her tenure, The 5th Avenue has grown from a $10 million to a $25 million organization. She brings to her position 30 years of fundraising and arts management experience. Prior to The 5th Avenue, she served as director of development for the prestigious Geffen Playhouse in Los Angeles, as well as for The Laguna Playhouse in Laguna Beach, California. Before moving to California, she served at the Seattle Symphony where she is proud to have been part of the team that built Benaroya Hall. In addition to the Symphony, Griffin worked for the Tony Award-winning Seattle Repertory Theatre, as well as Tony Randall's National Actors Theatre in New York. She began her career at the University of Denver. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree from St. Martin's University in Lacey, Washington and is proud to have been born and raised in Walla Walla, Washington. She is a member of Theater Communications Group, the National Alliance for Musical Theatre as well as a board member of Seattle Rotary #4 and the Downtown Seattle Association. She has also served as a grants panelist for the National Endowment for the Arts. Griffin was named one of the Puget Sound Business Journal's 2013 Women of Influence. She is married to award-winning actor Seán G. Griffin.

BILL BERRY (Producing Artistic Director) served as The 5th Avenue's associate producing artistic director and casting director from 2002 through 2009. During that time, he directed productions of West Side Story (Seattle Times Footlight Award), Wonderful Town (Seattle Times Footlight Award), Wizard of Oz and Smokey Joe's Cafe. In 2014, he made his Broadway debut as the director of the hit musical First Date at the Longacre Theatre. Berry's directing work has been seen at theaters across the country, most recently at New Jersey's Paper Mill Playhouse where he directed a critically acclaimed production of On the Town. Directing highlights include Cabaret performed at The 5th Avenue Theatre, St. Paul's Ordway Center (Ivey Award), San Jose's American Musical Theatre, and Houston's Theatre Under the Stars, as well as the smash hits How to Succeed…, Little Shop of Horrors, First Date, RENT, The Music Man, and Rodgers & Hammerstein's Carousel as The 5th. From 2002 to 2009, he served as the producing director for The 5th Avenue's education and outreach programs. During that time he significantly expanded the scope and impact of these initiatives, including spearheading the creation of Fridays at The 5th and The 5th Avenue Awards, honoring excellence in high school musical theater, as well as substantially increasing the reach of the Adventure Musical Theater Touring Company throughout the Northwest. These programs combined now serve over 83,000 students annually. He also initiated the Show Talk series, which seeks to deepen the theater-going experience. Prior to his work at The 5th Avenue Theatre, Berry was a freelance theater artist based in New York City.
